

FRENCH IN PARIS

SCHOOL INFORMATION

Sprachcafé/Languages PLUS- Paris was opened in 1986 as a private institute accredited by the Rectorat of Paris and the ministry of Labour, and is well known for its methodology based on the pedagogical project proper to the French. It is located in downtown Paris, the so-called Cours Rougemont and lies right in the middle of the historical, cultural, artistic and economic centre. The nearest underground station is called "Grands Boulevards", it is the 9th arrondissement and within walking distance there are museums, hostels and restaurants as well as an endless number of little boutiques and bars.

Louvre – the famous art gallery of Paris.

When arriving in Paris for your language course you may find the city more grand, evocative, beautiful, and stimulating than you had imagined it to be.

The French revolution ensured the development of a certain spirit of thought, now a particular western mentality, and a strong sense for the individual prevails. It has also paved the way for an inventive and creative spirit in the arts, architecture, literature, and music which enhanced the development of science and technology. This is proudly remembered and alluded to by contemporary French people. Recently, on the 200th anniversary of the revolution, the city presented more breathtaking monuments to modern architecture, which rival any in Europe. Paris is cutting edge when it comes to fashion and the arts: Theatre and ballet have sent a message out to the whole world and we all know that there is a bonafide contemporary scene in Paris. It goes without saying that the Louvre is a must for all those who enjoy some of the world's finest collections of paintings.
